The Fortin Foundation DukeEngage Academy unites students, faculty, summer staff and community collaborators for a two-day intensive pre-departure training. Through carefully selected workshops, unique and motivating speakers, and individual group reflection and team-building time, we provide the groundwork and tools for effective civic engagement, safety and self-care, as well as fostering an ethos of critical reflection about the world around us and our place in it.

Students will:

- Cultivate humility about their civic engagement experience
- Discover more about community partners & the reciprocal exchange of knowledge
- Acquire strategies for effective service
- Hear the stories of others and look to their experiences for motivation and inspiration
- Engage with their cohort through program-specific meetings and reflection
- Learn about post-DukeEngage research opportunities and other connections to the curriculum
- Set personal goals for their DukeEngage summer and identify useful resources
- Develop a personal commitment to service
